5. SELECTION CRITERIA

Applicants will be selected according to the following criteria:

Proposed project: You will propose a project in one of the supervisors' areas of interest below. It must be viable within a six-week timeframe and be well written.

Academic Achievement and Potential: This will be evaluated through the candidates' application form, university transcript, a reference, and an interview. Applicants would ideally be on track to achieve a final undergraduate degree grade of a strong 2:1 or first-class degree (e.g.: if your transcript shows year-on-year grade progression towards the upper range of a 2:1 or above).

Opportunity: This refers to the extent to which applicants will benefit from the programme, given their previous educational experiences. Preference will be given to students who have not already had the opportunity to undertake research in relevant areas (see Research Experience section below).

Contextual Information: We understand that factors such as socio-economic disadvantage can make it difficult for students to demonstrate their full potential. Therefore, we will use a range of contextual data that you provide in your application to help us better understand your achievements in the context of your particular circumstances, and to prioritise applicants who would most benefit from the programme.

Selection for the programme will take account of the following information, collected via your application form and personal statement:

- socio-economic information, including your financial circumstances
- any ongoing disruption that you have faced to your studies so far
- your undergraduate institution

Aspiring Researchers: AH will operate a waiting list in case any selected candidates are unable to take up their place. We will inform you if you are on the waiting list.

6. ACCOMMODATION AND PAY

You will be paid for participation in the programme at the rate of Cambridge Living Wage (currently £12 per hour), for a 35-hour week.

In addition, participants will be provided with single accommodation at Hughes Hall for the duration of the programme, including weekends. Rooms will be allocated at random unless a student has specific needs (which you are invited to set out in the Accessibility section of the online form).

You are expected to live in this College accommodation for the duration of the programme and comply with College regulations. In exceptional circumstances, agreed with your supervisor, you may arrange alternative accommodation for yourself.

7. EXPECTATIONS

Successful candidates will be expected to:

- live in Cambridge for the duration of the programme;
- participate in a research project for 35 hours per week for 6 weeks on the dates provided (8 July – 16 August 2024);
- attend all training sessions organised for the programme;
- the programme will also include a number of additional events (such as career talks, presentations, and social events) which will take place outside normal working hours. You are strongly encouraged to attend them as part of your career- and cohort-development and;
- commit to providing all requested feedback at the end of the programme so that we can improve it for future years.

Aspiring Researchers: AH aims to help you enhance your academic skills and to introduce you to the postgraduate experience 'at the University of Cambridge. At all times, you will be expected to maintain the highest standards of research integrity.

Please note that the University of Cambridge, along with most other research-intensive UK universities, normally expects a minimum of a good 2:1 as an entry requirement for postgraduate studies, and many highly competitive programmes will normally expect a first-class degree. Participants of Aspiring Researchers: AH who decide to apply to the University of Cambridge will not receive any preferential treatment at the application stage.

8. REFERENCE

A referee should be either a tutor or other academic at your current institution who knows you and your work well. This referee will be contacted when you submit your application. We strongly advise that you ensure your referee will be happy to provide a reference before you submit their contact details in your application. Your application will not be considered completed until we have received your reference.

9. RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Please indicate if you have undertaken a research placement, work experience, either at your current institution (whether as part of, or outside of, your course) or through another organisation, or research project of any other kind for a total duration of 4 weeks or more.

10. INTERVIEWS

Shortlisted candidates will be invited to an online interview with a small panel of assessors during the week commencing 4 or 11 March 2024 (precise date and time to be confirmed). The interviews will take the form of a conversation, will further explore what you wrote in your application, and focus on your proposal, academic achievement, and research potential. Your satisfaction of the eligibility and widening participation criteria will not be discussed in the interviews.

More details regarding the interview will be provided to shortlisted candidates in due course.
